Wheat Yields From 3 to 30 Bushels to Acre

Wheat harvest is underway in all parts of Randall county. The yield is running from 3 bushels per acre to 30 bushels per acre in the various parts of the county.

W. H. Upchurch had made the prediction earlier that Randall county would produce more wheat in 1954 than was raised in any other county on the Plains. He is sticking by this early prediction in spite of the drouth, freeze and hail which has damaged the crop.

Harvest is underway in all sections of the county, but the Southeast section of Randall county will probably be the last to finish cutting. The wheat in that section is slow in developing.

Freeze damage was greater than earlier estimated, states Mr. Upchurch. Some parts of the county virtually escaped freeze damage, while the east part along the Palo Duro Canyon was badly damaged according to reports of land owners.

The hail damage will be larger than anticipated. As the situation stood Monday, some wheat which was expected to yield about 15 bushels or more is yielding only 3 bushels; while other wheat which was thought to be greatly damaged is yielding around 10 or 12 bushels per acre.

According to the Texas Labor Bulletin, harvest in Randall county was reported to be 35% complete, with the closing date of July 4. However, owing to much late wheat in this county, it was estimated that eliminating late rains, harvest would be extended to July 10.

The Labor department estimated that wheat would average from 7 to 12 bushels to the acre. Farmers state that the estimates are entirely wrong, as the yield will be much more variable than these figures.

It will probably take the final figures for the county to determine the exact yield of wheat in Randall as well as adjoining counties.

Cohan Play To Be Given Next Week at W. T.

Fred Salmans, veteran player of the Branding Iron Theatre and Amarillo Little Theatre, has been selected for the lead role of the vagabond in the Palo Duro Players' second Summer production, "The Tavern" by George M. Cohan.

Salmans, Amarillo senior speech student at West Texas State College, has performed in many ALT and Summer Theatre dramas during the past several years. He will head a cast of 14 named by Director J. H. Flathers for the early American mystery-drama to be presented next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday (July 6, 7, and 8) in the BIT. Salmans is cast in the role especially designed for himself by the late great actor and author Cohan.

Set in an old stage coach inn about 1850, "The Tavern" builds in two acts a tale of suspense and humor, with characterizations designed to "play" on the unanswered questions about a vagabond suspected of highway robbery. The vagabond takes delight in observing developments of suspicion against himself by people of the tavern and guests, who include a state governor and his family. The governor has been robbed, and the stormy night spent in the tavern aids in creating atmosphere of the play.

Others in the cast include Gary Ray, Amarillo, as Zach; Ann Harrison, Amarillo, as Sally, the hired girl; Jack Teague, Dimmitt, as Freeman, the tavern keeper; Bill McDonald, Canyon, as Willum, the hired man; Bette Hubin, Amarillo, as Violet, the woman of mystery; Bill Stokes, Amarillo, as Lamson, the Governor.

Wife of the Governor, Mrs. Lamson, is played by Jeanne Quisenberry, Amarillo; Virginia, the Governor's daughter, by Pat Martin, Amarillo; Tom Allen, the fiance, by Claude Fuller, Amarillo; the sheriff, by Jim Quisenberry, Phillips; Ezra, the sheriff's man, by Ralph Green, Canyon; Tony, the sheriff's other man, by Dale Albright, Amarillo; and Stevens, the attendant, by George Friend, Amarillo.

Advance reservations may be made for any night's performance through the speech department at WT, phone 5-3781. Tickets are 75 and 50 cents. The BIT this summer is air-conditioned to add to the comfort of patrons. Each performance will start at 8:15 p. m.

There will be no celebration in Canyon for the Fourth, but there are plenty of attractions in neighboring towns for those who wish to face the heat and highway traffic in order to reach these popular celebrations.

C. O. Towne Not File Fight

C. O. Towne announced Friday that he had given up his fight against the expressway bonds which had been approved by the voters of Amarillo. He had previously filed notice of such a fight in the courts.

Mr. Towne is a resident of South Amarillo, living in Randall county.

It was feared that other bonds which were approved in the same election would fail if the objections raised by Mr. Towne against the expressway bonds were found valid by the courts.

Mayor Foster Heads USO Call

Mayor Hosea Foster has been named as chairman of Randall County for the Texas United Defense Fund, the state-wide group which will sponsor the USO campaign in Texas this year. The quota for the state as a whole will be $775,000 and the quota for Randall county is $1,209.

At present there are 176 men from Randall county serving in the different Armed Forces. These men are given free entertainment and various countries by the USO fund.

Jim Witherspoon of Hereford is the district chairman of the drive. He was appointed by Lawrence Hagy of Amarillo, who is regional director.

The USO campaign will be staged early this fall, according to announced plans.

A major portion of the Texas goal will be included in the Community Chest and United Fund Campaigns throughout the state during the fall.

Expert Will Give Frozen Food Demonstration

Up-to-date information on freezing fresh foods—fruits, vegetables, meas—and cooked foods will be given Friday, July 2, at the Canyon High School homemaking department from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m. by Evelyn Hautman, home economist for International Harvester Co.

Mutt Myers, local I. H. dealer, secured the services of the home economist.

Food preservation is one phase of the summer project program being worked on by 70 high school girls this summer.

"Everyone interested in the freezing of foods has a special invitation to attend this demonstration," announced Mrs. Clara Long who is working with this program.

300 Caps Are Taken from New School Building

It will be a wonder if some boy in Canyon is not seriously injured as the result of blowing up a .22 rifle during the Fourth of July celebration is the verdict of Sheriff L. S. Johnston.

The tool house at the new school building was raided Saturday or Sunday night and 300 caps which are used in heavy guns to drive nails were stolen. The caps look like blanks for a .22 rifle, but are powerful enough to drive nails through a piece of steel. They are powerful enough to blow a rifle to pieces, if shot in a rifle.

Please, please beware of these powerful cartridges, warned Mr. Johnston. Citizens are warned to turn these cartridges back to the construction company if anyone finds them.

Twirler Will Appear at WT

TED OTIS

Ted Otis, three-time national twirling champion and famed drum major of the movie "Stars and Stripes Forever," will return this summer to teach and demonstrate twirling at the second annual West Texas Music Camp, slated Aug. 1-13 at West Texas State College. He will be joined by a number of nationally known band and choral authorities as faculty for the camp, which last year attracted hundreds of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico high school musicians and directors.

T. M. Thurman and daughters of Plainview visited in the home of his daughter and family, the Gene Davises Saturday.

Please Get Copy To News Early For Coming Week

Business will be suspended in Canyon next Monday, which means that The News will have one day less of operation for the coming issue of the paper.

Business firms are urged to take this into consideration in planning their advertising for next week. Please get the copy in a day earlier than usual.

Reporters are asked to get their club reports in earlier than usual.

Since this is the last mid-summer holiday, all of us can be a little more careful and plan a day earlier than usual for the next issue of The Canyon News.

Four New Men Military Unit

Four men who have been instructors in military science and tactics with the West Texas State College ROTC unit since it was established two years ago, will be reassigned to other duties in September, according to Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military science and tactics.

Three of the non-commissioned officers, Master Sergeants Robert C. Cleveland, James A. Colombo, and Curtis L. Brown, will go to Europe. All originally with the artillery, they will receive new duty with the Army Occupation forces. Cleveland will serve with the field forces, probably in Germany, and Colombo and Brown have been assigned to the Air Force.

Master Sergeant Clyde A. Thomas will be assigned to the Far Eastern Command, probably in Korea. All will be replaced before September, Col. Lumry said.

Colombo and Thomas were sponsors at WT of the Rifle Team, and Brown, who was Sergeant Major, was sponsor of the Drill Team.

A commissioned officer will also be assigned to the WT unit before September, Col. Lumry said, to replace Major George W. Rehn, who has been discharged from the Army.

Improvements Underway at WT

Construction is underway on several projects at West Texas State College, including two dormitory additions, renovation of windows and doors in the Administration Building, and the building of a new power plant.

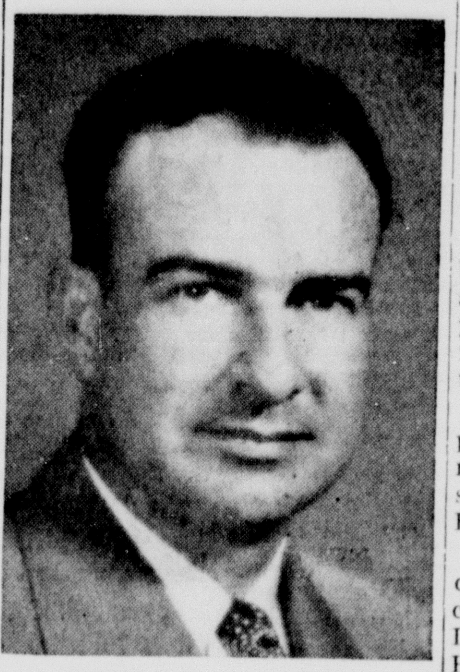
R. A. Ramey Construction Company, Amarillo, has begun foundation work on additions to Stafford and Cousins halls which would increase housing in the dormitories by about 50 units each. When the units are completed, sometime next spring, additional space will be available for about 100 men and 100 women. Cost will be $418,341 for both units.

New aluminum windows and doors for the nearly 40-year-old Administration Building are being installed by the Walter Wirtz Company of Amarillo. Work on the $50,000 project is expected to be completed in August.

Materials from Burton Gym, which was recently torn down, will be used toward construction of a new power plant, to be located north of the Administration Building, behind Conner Hall. Work will be done by the college maintenance department, and no completion date has been set.

Additional construction by the maintenance department includes the remodeling of one of the old athletic buildings for the publications department.

Kenneth Walters Killed in Blast Pampa Wednesday



KENNETH WALTERS

Kenneth Walters died Wednesday evening at a Pampa Hospital as the result of third degree burns he received when a booster station exploded, setting fire to a house in which he was working. The house contained a quantity of paint and inflammable materials which were set on fire by the explosion.

Walters, 36-year-old high school teacher, was a timekeeper for the Cities Service Company during the summer, and had been at work only a few weeks.

The funeral services were held Friday morning in Pampa.

Mr. Walters was born in Elder, Colorado. His mother, Mrs. P. L. Walters, lives in Canyon. He graduated from the Happy public schools and received his BA and MA degrees from West Texas State. He served in the army during World War II.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Essie Mae Walters; one sister, Mrs. Charles Kieser of Menlo Park, Calif.; two brothers, Richard of Canyon and Gene of Mexia; his grandmother, Mrs. Della Walters of Happy; two aunts, Mrs. Henry Ratjen and Mrs. Alden Mann of Happy, and an uncle, Frank Walters of Happy.

Negro Fined on Liquor Charge

He was picked up on Highway 87 driving south through the county.

.27 of Inch Rain Falls

Rain fell in Canyon Tuesday night which measured .27 of an inch. This was the first moisture which has fallen since June 14, and ranges were badly needing this additional moisture.

Wheat harvest will probably be delayed not more than a day as the result of the rain.

Moisture in Canyon so far measures 2.70 inches during June, and 8.94 during the year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Nester and children have returned from a vacation trip to Alaska.

CROP Group Gets Support From Churches

Truett Hull states that no reports have been received from the churches of Canyon from the Free-will offering which was taken last Sunday morning for the donation to CROP.

The committee is hopeful that Randall county will contribute at least 15 beeves which will be processed and shipped free of charge to Greece. This nation has suffered several devastating earthquakes which have left 30,000 persons homeless.

In addition to the beeves, the committee is seeking a carload of wheat, which will be traded to the government for 20 carloads of wheat from the surplus food supply which the government now holds.

Wheat will also be shipped without cost directly to Greece where it will be distributed among worthy persons.

Mr. Hull says that letters have been forwarded to 17 persons who assisted on the CROP drive last year, asking them to work as a mop-up committee, seeking donations of beeves, wheat or cash.

"We want to impress upon the people that this is a free-will donation. We are not using pressure to reach our goal," stated Mr. Hull.

The committee in charge of the campaign is composed of Hull, county chairman; Jack Jennings, L. W. Cole, W. T. McGregor, and Harry Hungate.

NEWSMAN CAUGHT IN ACT

Advises Not Bath But Fell in Tub

The Newsman must pick up his paper and read what he had previously written—or suffer the consequences!

Last week we quoted a skin specialist who had spoken before a group of physicians, advising them that daily bathing was all wrong.

Here we have been engaging in this daily bath for years, following years, and never any ill effect.

But like all fellows who advise one way and then do as they please, the Newsman was caught red handed in his own game. We have enjoyed a daily bath and would not think of hitting the hay at night without a bath.

Wednesday night witnessed the downfall of the mighty!

After our daily bath, we were getting out of the tub, when our feet suddenly slipped out from under us and almost hit the ceiling. The first thing we knew we were stretched out in the tub, almost speechless, and the wind knocked completely out of us.

The only blemish is the little finger on our right hand, which was badly swollen Thursday, but the X-ray showed that no bones were broken or even fractured.

The nurses at the hospital had a good laugh at the expense of the Newsman, but did not request a demonstration as to how the mighty fall after giving sage advice on how not to fall.

Never, never, again.

Just hold your nose when you see us coming.

The Chicago specialist is right.

We shall never, never, never, again take a bath!

Kenneth Gibson Named as Ward School Principal

Kenneth Gibson of Perryton was elected as principal of the Summitt School in Amarillo at a meeting of the Amarillo school board Wednesday. He has been principal of the Perryton high school for three years. Gibson was a teacher in the White Deer school and Spring Creek School in Hutchinson county before accepting his present work.

Mr. Gibson is a brother of Joe Gibson, superintendent of the Canyon schools, and a graduate of West Texas State. His wife is the former Christine Jarrett and they are the parents of two daughters.

A Few Observations As The Days Roll By . . . .

As most of the readers already know, The Newsman took a little trip last week-end, visiting the 75th Diamond Convention of the Texas Press Association in Fort Worth.

The entertainment feature was good, but cut short due to expenses.

The program consisted of long winded introductions of past presidents and speakers. The worst introduction came for Governor Shivers. The Governor's speech was televised, but the past president, who presented the Governor to the crowd who had heard Allan Shivers a dozen or more times during his period in office, took 22 minutes, leaving the Governor only 10 minutes for his speech.

Naturally we are a confirmed train rider. We do not like to start out on a long trip in a car, especially during this hot weather. Yet there is such a thing as having too much of a good thing.

The Burlington did not pay expenses on our trip to Fort Worth. From Denver to Amarillo there were six persons in the Pullman, and five stopped at Amarillo.

From Amarillo to Childress, the Pullman was occupied only by the Newsman and another fellow, who got off at that station. From Childress to Wichita Falls we had the entire Pullman to ourself.

At Wichita Falls a Vacation Bible School class of 100 youngsters boarded the train to visit a factory in the next town. It was a noisy crew, and about half were forced into the Pullman by the overflow. A woman had gotten on the Pullman at Wichita Falls and was still a passenger when the train pulled out of the station at Fort Worth.

Coming back to Amarillo Sunday, the Burlington was two hours late because of the heavy traffic and the slow road bed. The condition of farms down the Burlington was not over-estimated. Water was standing everywhere along the railroad, and the trains moved cautiously.

From Childress on south better time was made. On the way down, we lost 30 minutes between Amarillo and Childress, but made up this time on to Fort Worth.

The Canyon delegation of ROTC boys, on their way to Fort Benning, Ga., was on the train southbound. The boys were somewhat dubious about the hot weather and the rough treatment they expected to receive in camp. However, the boys had volunteered for their job, and entered it with considerable enthusiasm.

Will the Angus cattle supersede the Herefords as breeding stock of the Southwest?

We have asked Hereford breeders this question for the past two years as more and more Angus have been imported.

From the train we noticed that there are more black cattle than white faces, but as we neared Fort Worth the Holsteins were predominate. This is due, no doubt to the demand for milk on the big city's market.

It's hard to teach an old dog new tricks. On leaving the hotel Saturday night, we announced to the cab driver that we wanted to go to the Burlington station. He scratched his head and finally said he had never heard of such a railroad. When advised that it was the Ft. Worth & Denver, he was at home.

No wonder passenger travel is light in spots. Just consider the dining car prices and you will understand.

A Negro woman entered the dining car on the way down. Just one glance at the menu convinced her. She took a ham sandwich and coffee. Her remark to the Negro waiter was: "My God, such prices!"

No doubt the white customers were thinking the same thing!

All of us gloried that a Canadian raised boy has finally won control of the New York Central, the second largest railroad in the nation.

We asked a dozen supposedly smart guys what the largest railroad was, but none could answer. Most of them guessed the Santa Fe.

Authority says that the Pennsylvania is the largest system in the world.

We heard a lot of politics at Fort Worth. The Star Telegram, which has been dubbed as the largest weekly in Texas published twice daily, has not committed itself on the Governor's race, but we are betting that Allan Shivers will be its choice.

Three candidates for Governor were in Fort Worth, but we got to see only the Governor. He did not make a political talk before the convention. He owns two weekly newspapers, and talked newspaper language while before the convention.

We heard that the only fight being made on Shivers was that he was a Republican because he supported Eisenhower!

This is the only reason Ralph Yarborough can find to try to defeat the Governor. Naturally it will take with those who never stop to consider the real situation, and what brought it about.

You will recall that the Texas delegation headed by Governor Shivers, supported Senator Russell for the Democratic nominee.

You will furthermore recall that following the convention when Governor Stevenson of Illinois addressed the convention and failed to mention the tidelands situation, that Shivers made a trip to Illinois to confer with Stevenson. When Stevenson told Shivers that he would veto any Congressional measure giving the tidelands to Texas, Shivers announced that Texas would go for Eisenhower, and furthermore, he worked for the President on this one issue.

Those who will vote against Shivers simply because he followed Eisenhower and not Stevenson are saying: "That's okay; just steal all that you can from Texas and we will never lift a hand to defend our state."

If Stevenson had been elected, the school children of Texas would have been deprived of this fund, and then you would hear a howl going up from those who were hit the hardest.

That fellow C. T. Johnson who visited Canyon two weeks ago in his campaign for Lieutenant Governor is an ardent campaigner. He was at the convention, shaking hands with all comers, and having more fun than any publisher. Johnson has the happy faculty of remembering names and faces, as well as places he has visited.

He may never be elected to the job he aspires to hold, but he is going to run a real race.

We were told on the train approaching Amarillo that the people up there voted in favor of the expressway simply from fear of the State Highway Commission. We were told that if the people had voted their true sentiment, that the bond issue would have been defeated in Amarillo. Since we know nothing about Amarillo sentiment, you may judge the above as you like. It came from a man who said he supported the bond issue.

At least we talked with a former Canyon citizen at Fort Worth who asked about the bond issue defeat in Randall county. It was his opinion that expressways interfered with business rather than build up business.

That was his observation in Austin and other big towns which had built expressways.

Which reminds us of a conversation that we had with Arch Hunsley just before leaving for Fort Worth. His conversation ran something like this:

"You know that I was opposed to seeing Randall county approve $750,000 bonds for an expressway because this would not begin to pay for the damages to property along the road. Now then, let's be sensible and offer the right of way to the state directly north on the old road to Amarillo, and connecting with Highway 66. There would be very little damage to property on this route, and it would tap a vast part of fertile land in Randall county which needs a paved highway — most land owners will donate 300 feet if the state wants it."

Does this make sense to you? Arch says that the State Highway Commission will not accept anything but the present highway in order to save a few dollars for itself, but without regard to the high cost of land and improvements along the present highway. He is convinced that business on 36th Street in Amarillo is doomed if the present highway is followed.

While in Fort Worth we visited the Armour Packing plant where everything is saved, except the squeal of the pigs and the moo of the cattle. We saw one man standing around while one other fellow did the work.

This was not quite as bad as the situation over at the Bell Helicopter plant which makes machines for the Navy. Here at least three men were standing arond while a third was working, and a fourth man was walking the aisles with forms or blueprints chucked under his arm.

It reminded us of the saying of Amon Carter on a previous trip to Fort Worth. A boy was asked how many people worked on the Star-Telegram. His reply was:

"Well, mister, we have 800 on the pay roll; about half of them are working."

Amon recently suffered a heart attack and was not present at any of the meetings of the Diamond Anniversary Convention. Shady Oak, his famous farm, has not been opened in three years we were told. When Amon put on a party at Shady Oak, it cost upward of $10,000, depending upon the kind of people who were entertained.

As we have often remarked, The Canyon News has been lucky in the past in winning so many places in competition with other papers of the state. The class of newspapers has greatly improved. Competition is stronger than ever before. All that we have to show for this trip is a Texas Press Association necktie, which was manufactured by a Fort Worth concern, and a diamond (pure glass) stick pin to hold on our Diamond Anniversary badge.

We were especially delighted to renew acquaintance with Oveta Culp Hobby, who was parliamentarian of the House when we went there as a Freshman Representative in 1929. She talked of her work in Washington. It was a surprise to most people to learn that of every dollar spent by her vast department, she has control of only 6 cents. The balance of the money goes to the states for distribution.

It was rather amusing to hear the big shots disagree with each other. We listened to a grocer from California talking Friday night; then came an editor from Chicago Saturday who presented an altogether different set of figures and challenged the previous speaker.

It made us doubly proud to be connected with a small business where we have some control over outgo and income. The big boys have their troubles—and plenty of them.

After all is said and done, the boys from the fork of the creeks bring a message which is closer to the hearts of publishers than the big boys. We refer in particular to the speech of Phil North of the Star-Telegram and to Paul Crume who edits the column "Big D" in the Dallas News.

When the boys in the Panhandle Press Association appear on the progrm, let down their hair and talk straight from the shoulder, we know that they are expressing their own views or telling of their troubles and not the imaginary ones as the big boys profess to express.

Which reminds us that Friday night the ball room of the Texas Hotel was full of newspaper men and women. A man from Oklahoma City who was visiting the Texas Press Association for his first time expressed amazement at the large number present. We gloried in telling him that not more than 50% of the publishers of Texas were present. He could not believe his eyes!

Which leads us to call your attention to the record of The Canyon News man. We joined the Texas Press Association in 1912; have missed about half the meetings in the past; but only two meetings of the Panhandle Press Association since that time.

If we live until August 1, 1954, we will have been publisher of The Canyon News for 45 years.

Maybe a lot of folks will tilt their nose and say: "Too long for any man to hold such a job." Perhaps they are right!

The man who tries to read every new book is as crazy as the man who reads none.

There are few women who do not tell their husbands about the bigger ones that got away.

When politics gets involved in a public issue, say goodbye to any hope of a sensible solution.

Eden Is Fair Haired Boy in England Today

By HOWARD GOTLIEB
Foreign Correspondent

LONDON: Anthony Eden is England's fair-haired boy. At the present time he is generally regarded in most quarters here as the country's one remaining hope of attaining once more the leading role in international affairs.

The Eden legend is substantial and glamorous; it has taken many years to build. There are today few middle-aged housewives in Sidcup or few retired politicos in Mayfair who do not take a personal pride in the continuing achievements of the Foreign Secretary.

Eden himself has helped the legend along over the years. He remains every inch the British diplomat . . . polished, fluent, well-dressed, and aristocratic. The facts concerning his diplomatic career, however, are not generally known. For the past decade the Foreign Secretary has been living on his reputation as the man who resigned from the Government in 1938 because of the appeasement of Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

It is generally recognized in most knowledgeable quarters, however, that Mr. Eden resigned at that time because of the insistence of his then Under Secretary, the present Marquis of Salisbury. It was the latter gentleman who was and remains today unalterably opposed to any form of totalitarian regime.

During the mid-Thirties, the Marquis of Salisbury and Mr. Churchill were the two courageous symbols in the sad story of British diplomacy of the era. Political expediency forced Eden into their camp.

Today the tables have varied a bit. The Marquis remains unalterably opposed to dealing with the totalitarian Communist regime while Mr. Churchill feels that perhaps his own personality would bring some benefits from protracted negotiations with the Soviet. Eden once more drifts between the two points of view. Meanwhile, he has taken to criticizing American policy and stating that it will be up to Britain to find the modus vivendi between East and West.

Enjoying himself at the scene of his former triumphs, Eden while in Geneva is also keeping his eye on the high office which will be his when the Prime Minister retires.

The recent utterances and actions, therefore, have been those calculated to allow him to arrive at Number 10 Downing Street on a wave of public enthusiasm . . . even though his momentary fascination with the art of diplomacy might well cost his country dearly in the future.

VETERAN'S DAY

President Dwight D. Eisenhower recently signed a bill, and from now on, November 11 will be celebrated as Veteran's Day, instead of Armistice Day. The idea is to set the holiday as a memorial to honor American service veterans of all wars.

U. S. WORKERS DROP

A net cutback of 134,344 civilian Federal employes between July, and May, 1954, has been reported by Senator Harry F. Byrd. Not counting men in the armed services, Federal employment averaged 2,335,296 in April, a drop of 4,841 from the previous month.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: It will not take long to cast your ballot in the Democratic primaries on July 24.

There are only six contested races, as certified by the State Democratic Executive Committee, making up one of the party's shortest ballots. There are but 26 names on the ballots for 14 statewide elective offices.

Governor's Race

Governor Allan Shivers, running for re-election, designated Ralph Yarborough and his backers as "dreamers" who see as a solution of all our ills centralization of our government in Washington.

As an example of his meaning, Shivers said his opponents were blaming him for supporting the Republican nominee for President in 1952.

"They say I'm a traitor," Shivers commented. "If getting the tidelands back for our school children means I'm a traitor, then I plead guilty." The governor added:

"Our opposition paid lip service to the tidelands. This two-time loser's biggest backers said the tidelands belonged to the federal government . . ."

Yarborough had hurled the charge of disloyalty at Shivers because of the latter's support of Eisenhower.

Yarborough also struck out against Shivers' bid for a third elective term, saying, "Texas tradition condemns a third term. We approved the Twenty-second Amendment which forbids a third term for President."

Women in Politics

Two Texas women took over prominent spots in the state's political show last week.

Mrs. Pat Dougherty will manage the campaign of her husband, Dudley T. Dougherty, for the United States senate. Mrs. Charles Devall of Kilgore, whose husband is publisher of the Kilgore News Herald, was appointed state chairman of Texas Democratic Women for Shivers.

Demo Convention

A decision that will give big city counties who voted Republican in 1952 a strong voice in the Texas Democratic Convention was made by the State Democrats in agreeing to count both parties' 1952 votes in deciding their convention strength.

The Democratic Convention convenes in September at Mineral Wells. The committee, meeting in Austin, agreed unanimously on the proposal after being told by its legal committee that the total vote was the correct basis on which to determine delegate strength.

Insurance Investigations

One Texas insurance firm went into receivership and another appeared ready in another week of insurance shake-ups.

Ralph W. Hammonds of Houston, head of the Lloyds of North America Insurance Company, admitted insolvency and his firm went into permanent receivership.

Also caught in the whirling door of insurance investigations was the suspended General American Casualty Company with headquarters in San Antonio. Suspension followed a voluntary request of the firm's president Ralph D. Stokes. Incomplete checks of the company's books showed it was "approximately one million dollars in debt," Insurance Board Chairman Garland Smith said.

No Insurance Mess

State Senator George Parkhouse told a meeting of insurance men in Austin that most of the controversy was being played out of true import.

He said that most of the trouble was being "generated artificially and unnecessarily to serve the political purposes of a little group of men." He added that the Legislature should, however, patch some present law loopholes and pay examiners better salaries.

'Ridiculous' Charges

Charges by a former agent of the State Liquor Board that the liquor industry and politicians run the board was termed "absolutely ridiculous" by Administrator Coke Stevenson, Jr.

Stevenson said the accusation of former member Weldon Burney, who called the board corrupt and dominated by politics, was without basis.

The San Antonio man resigned May 27. Stevenson said that he had been demoted in grade and appeared dissatisfied when he couldn't get a transfer back to McAllen where he was stationed when Stevenson took office.

Water Is Big Problem

Water is one of the state's big problems, the president of the Texas Water Conservation Association told Texas University attorneys and water engineers.

Guy C. Jackson, Jr., asking for water improvements, called for a "state-wide water plan" and for the state to assume financial responsibility for dams and other water improvements.

Joins Campaign Staff

A manager of Governor Allan Shivers' successful 1952 race has been named to help manage the Governor's campaign for re-election.

Jack Dillard, director of Alumni Affairs for Baylor University, will assist Senator Ottis Lock of Lufkin in forming strategy for the campaign which was fired off Monday with a rally and radio broadcast at Lufkin, Shivers' home.

Tax Exemption Asked

Two Texas turnpike corporations have asked the State Supreme Court whether toll roads built by private firms can have tax exemptions.

The Texas Turnpike Company and the Sam Houston Turnpike Corporation appealed from the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals.

Both are seeking to build toll roads in the state; one from Dallas to Houston and the other a Dallas-San Antonio route.

Horse Statue

Another work of Pompeo Coppini, legendary name to University of Texas students because his statues cover the sprawling campus, has been slated for a campus location.

The bronze statue of a horse, called "Freedom," was given to the Texas State Historical Association of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Magruder of San Antonio. The work is from the family's private collection of statuary.

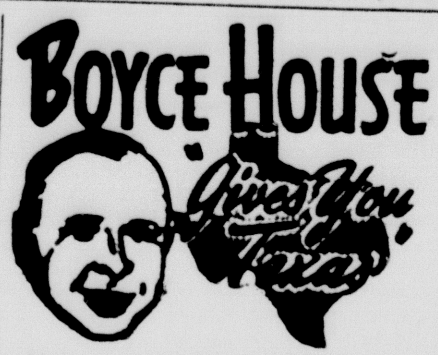
Common weeds, such as smartweed, sedge, and dock may be valuable money crops in the future, reports a researcher at the University of Massachusetts. These weeds contain pectin, used in jellymaking, cellulose and sugar.

Woodpeckers are going soft, say reports from the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture. It seems the birds prefer digging born bores out from corn stalks, to hammering on tree trunks for a meal of beetles and worms.

If you don't enjoy what you have now, how can you be happier with more?



BOYCE HOUSE Gives You Texas

He's a big fellow—230 pounds—with an air of power about him, reminding you of the American shipwrecked sailor in the storybook who became king of a South Pacific isle. He's Dewey Cox of Port Aransas, owner of La Balenise Room, the Hangout Cafe, the Marine Bar and of a barber shop, too.

And he is a king—the jewfish king. The jewfish (the name is derived from junefish) is known also as the sea bass and half a dozen other appellations. Cox is familiar with the favorite lairs, such as around old wreckage and in caverns. Using a rod and reel, he has caught some weighing from 300 to 400 pounds.

He is a former Dallas fireman who went to Port Aransas in the 1940's to begin a second career after retiring as a firefighter. His first place in Port Aransas was a little stand where hamburgers were sold.

Cox has a hearty manner and is a good story-teller. He tells of a man who, learning that a storm was on the way, obtained a supply of whisky and braced himself for the blow. The liquor calmed his nerves until the storm reached 100 miles an hour but when it passed 100 miles an hour, that 100-proof whisky had no more effect than sweet milk!

When the Southwestern Writers Conference at Corpus Christi ended with a picnic, Cox was host to the 150 writers, with beverages. And when it was found that seaweed made the beach disadvantageous, he quickly assembled a fleet of motorboats to transport the group across to St. Joseph Island, owned by Sid Richardson, famous Fort Worth oil man. Piloting the craft were Charlie Mathews, Johnnie Mathews, Don Roy Farley, Dale Mircovich, Lonnie Mathewson and Leonard Brown. (The Mathews brothers and Farley are sons of noted fishing guides who helped President Franklin D. Roosevelt find big ones at Port Aransas).

The voyage across the three-quarters of a mile, with waves swaying the craft and salt spray dashing into one's face, was a vivid experience. (Roosevelt used a similar small boat and the scales of tarpon he caught are displayed under glass in the historic Tarpon Inn).

The Marine Bar is advertised by a Marilyn Monroe-ish calendar which bears the words, "Out of place if not displayed on a ship" and by silver dollars on which are pasted a slip of paper with a message about the bar. Sailors buy these silver dollars—they are good luck pieces and are handy for use as chips in a poker game. When an oil tanker arrives, the whole crew descends on the Marine Bar.

Cigar in the corner of his mouth, the twinkling-eyed proprietor would have been immortalized in a soldier-of-fortune novel or a banana republic short story had Richard Harding Davis or O. Henry ever met him. His square jaw indicates his capability of dealing with any situation but there's a streak of Irish sentiment in his makeup, too. "Excuse me," he said, and, stepping to the door of the cafe, he called out to two old ladies, sightseers, "Come in, girls, and have a cup of coffee." They smiled and accepted the invitation.

The representatives of eight free countries took part in ceremonies on the Normandy beaches commemorating the landing ten years ago that led to the liberation of France.

The maritime industry is gloomy as Congress stalls on aid.

Now you can protect your car against both friction and acid—the two major causes of engine wear
NEW CONOCO Super MOTOR OIL
America's First Double-Duty Oil!

CONOCO
SUPER MOTOR OIL HEAVY DUTY

Protection 1
OIL-PLATING®
conquers friction wear . . . because this exclusive discovery actually fastens a thin film of lubricant to moving engine parts for full-time protection.

Protection 2
ACID-PROOFING
conquers corrosive wear . . . because this exclusive new discovery gives Conoco Super up to twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

Automotive engineers have long known that friction and corrosion are the two major causes of engine wear. Now, from the laboratories of Continental Oil, comes America's first Double-Duty motor oil. It combines two exclusive discoveries (Oil-Plating and Acid-Proofing)* to conquer both major causes of engine wear.

The unique Oil-Plating additive conquers friction wear by actually fastening a thin film of protective oil to engine parts. Unlike ordinary motor oil, this film won't drain down even when your engine has been stopped overnight. Thus you get full-time protection against damaging wear due to friction.

Exclusive Acid-Proofing additive conquers corrosive wear three ways—it neutralizes acids, prevents rust, and gobbles up tiny particles of dust, dirt, and water and seals them safely in spheres of oil until the oil is drained. ACID-PROOFING actually gives new Conoco Super twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

New Conoco Super Motor Oil is on sale at Conoco dealers everywhere. Drive in and ask for it today!

Your Conoco dealer will recommend the right grade of new Conoco Super Motor Oil for your car, your climate, your driving conditions.

Boys' Ranch Wedding July 1st

HELEN HANEGAN AND EARL L. SMITH

The 203 boys at America's First Boys' Ranch, Amarillo, are eagerly making preparations for the wedding of the first graduate of the Ranch to be married at his adopted home.

The boys are expecting about 500 guests to attend the wedding of Earl L. Smith, now a member of the Ranch staff and the first Boys' Ranch boy to graduate from college, and Miss Helen Hanegan, of Hereford, scheduled Thursday, July 1, in the Ranch chapel. Guests will include all boys at the Ranch, staff members, directors and contributors to the Ranch.

Smith, a 1953 graduate of Texas A & M College, first came to the Ranch in 1943. An orphan, he completed his high school work there, and then entered Texas A & M, where he received his bachelor of science degree in physical education. After graduating, he returned to the Ranch as an athletic director, the position he now holds.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hanegan of Hereford, where she attended school and has been employed by the Kirkland Pump Company.

Boys' Ranch Chaplain Carl Orth will officiate at the semi-formal wedding, scheduled at 7 p. m. Thursday. The ceremony will follow a special dinner at 6 p. m. and a reception will be held after the wedding in the Boys' Ranch gymnasium.

Following a wedding trip through the Midwest, the couple will make their home at Boys' Ranch.

RESCUER NOT APPRECIATED

Minneapolis, Minn. — Carleton J. West, Jr., 24-year-old University of Minnesota law student, stopped his car on a Mississippi River bridge and went to the rescue of a woman who had just leaped from the span. West pulled the woman from the water and helped to keep her alive with artificial respiration until help could arrive. When the rescuer returned to his car, he found it tagged for illegal parking on the bridge.

NOT THE WEAKER SEX

Knoxville, Tenn. — Mack Garrett, 14, is convinced that the female is not necessarily the weaker sex. Recently, he and his 11-year-old sister, Anna, decided to imitate a pair of wrestlers they had been watching on television. Anna applied an armlock on Mack and he went flying over her shoulder. He ended the tussle in a hospital with a broken left arm.

$100,000 FOR FORCEPS

Baltimore, Md. — Mrs. Annie Mae Allgood James recently entered a suit for $100,000 damages against Johns Hopkins Hospital because a pair of forceps were sewed up inside her abdomen during an operation performed in 1952. A second operation was necessary later to remove the instrument left inside the patient. Hospital officials said the "regrettable incident" stemmed from a "break in teamwork" of operating-room personnel.

NOT WORTH THE TROUBLE

"Reggie is lost in thought."

"Yes, but I don't believe he's worth a relief expedition."

Mathis Given Bronze Star For Service

Chaplain (Major) Robert B. Mathis, former resident of Shamrock and nephew of Silas Hart, has been awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Korea.

Chaplain Mathis is now assigned to the 4005th Area service unit at Fort Hood. Mrs. Mathis is the former Josie Lummus of Shamrock and ex-student of West Texas State.

While serving with the 171st station hospital in Korea, Chaplain Mathis was cited for meritorious service during the period of August 17, 1952, to September 1, 1952. As hospital chaplain he effectively organized and directed religious activities of the hospital and area military units, directed a welfare program for indegenous patients, and established a civil assistance program which aided needy orphans in the area.

In the citation Chaplain Mathis was praised for his unusual ability, outstanding initiative, and constant devotion to duty which earned him the respect of all those with whom he served, and contributed immeasurably to the success achieved by his organization in accomplishing its vital mission.

Because of his meritorious services during this period, he was cited for furthering the cause of the United Nations in Korea, which reflects not only on himself, but on the entire military service.

He is a graduate of Wayland College, Baylor, and the Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Independent businessmen express deep concern over farm problem. First in their minds is belief that farmers, producers of wealth, are keystone in national economy.

In addition, independent businessmen who pay a heavy proportionate share of taxes cannot see how situation can continue. The general feeling is that there must be a businesslike solution.

C. W. Harder

Here are some of the facts. The same forces seeking to plow under independent business works to plow under the independent farmer, commonly known as the operator of a family sized farm. More than a million have apparently been plowed under since 1935 by growth of huge corporation farm ventures.

In 1935 nation's farmlands totaled 1,054,515,000 acres divided among 6,182,350 farms. By 1952 acreage increased to 1,158,566,000 while farm number dropped almost 1½ million to 5,382,162.

1935 is also important in other ways to farm situation. In that year reciprocal trade treaties got underway. Imports of manufactured and crude foodstuffs totalled $641,155,000. By 1952 imports reached over $3 billion.

In meantime, domestic surpluses mount. Government authorities estimate by June 1955 government owned corn will increase from present 800,000 busheis to over a billion bushels, and so on down entire list of supported commodities.

Two facts seem apparent.

First, unless better tariff protection is given U. S. producers, farm surpluses will zoom.

Second if government support prices continue on all farming operations despite scope of operations, more and more will be produced by corporate farms.

Big corporation farms, assured of guaranteed prices for their crops, continue to produce more and more surpluses.

Of course end of all support prices would stop tax waste. But blow to independent farmers might be fatal.

Secretary Benson seems aware of situation whereby big corporation farms reap the harvest. In Denver speech he said "operators of family size farms receive comparatively little help from present program."

It is understood Secretary Benson feels inclined to some provision which would limit the amount of government support to the first $25,000 worth produced by any farm.

However it could be politically ticklish for Secretary Benson to publicly advance this idea because it was a part of so called Brannan plan.

But regardless of politics strange paradox continues.

In mid 30's Congress gave away its rights to control protective tariffs to world wide boondogglers. As flood of imported foodstuffs swelled, programs were enacted to keep U. S. independent farmer from drowning.

Then big interests who play only sure things such as monopoly operations jumped into farming to increase surpluses paid for by U. S. taxpayer.

It is a situation which cannot continue.

Experts Say That Business Will Be Good During 1955-56: No War

WASHINGTON: The outlook for the United States becoming involved in a war this year, or even next year, is definitely improved. Events of the last six weeks have brought the country near open intervention in Indochina, but the major crises have been passed without U. S. involvement.

It is true that on several occasions some members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and even the President, were actively considering a request to Congress for the use of United States service men in Indochina. But the wisdom of certain key figures in Washington fortunately stayed this request.

Probably the deciding factor in this close question was the demonstration to the right people—just in time—that the French did not have the support of the people of Indochina themselves. Therefore, had the United States sent its boys into that war, they might have ended up fighting the very people they sought to help.

In short, they might have ended up fighting a war of old-style European colonialism. The French came very near drawing U. S. boys into their battle. But another decisive reason the U. S. stayed out, in the critical moment, was the conviction of many U. S. officers that French forces were not fighting against the Reds in Indochina as vigorously as they might.

The U. S. decision to stay out of that war probably means that the Communists will take over large areas of the country. They have been doing that for seven years already. The conclusion seems to be that the United States will have to set up a barrier against Communism behind the Indochina line. An Asian alliance is the best chance to halt the march of Communism in this area of the world and Western diplomats are already at work on this proposal.

Contrary to what some harkers of doom would have Americans believe, the loss of a large part of Indochina does not alter the world balance of power. The Communists can use Indochina food, and minerals, to advantage. If they can use this newly-won territory to launch new aggressive drives against other countries, such as India, Burma, Indonesia, and Thailand, they can make significant use of it.

But if the Western allies rally and form a barrier to seal off further Communists' conquests, the loss of a major part of Indochina may have only minor consequences. And the Reds will hesitate a long time before they attack an alliance of democracies, including the United States.

The key question in Republican political circles these days concerns prosperity and the fall elections, plus—of course—the controversial Communists-in-government issue. There is a feeling that if the country is enjoying good times—a business pickup—come November, it will mean GOP victory at the polls.

Most economic forecasters are becoming increasingly optimistic about the future and thus there is some optimism among Republicans. However, there is concern about the elections among those who think the pickup will not arrive in time to affect the voting trend this year. They say a seasonal summer slump will hold back any economic recovery until the fall months, and that even if the recovery begins in early fall, the trend won't be fully apparent in November.

Business forecasters—by an impressive majority—look for good business years through 1956. They say the recent economic sag has touched bottom and that, were it not summer, things would already be heading upward briskly.

Democrats in the House and Senate, however, are readying the old depression campaign theme for this year's elections. They believe they have an excellent chance to win control of one house, and a very good chance to win both of them. If they accomplish such a feat, it would put the President on a hot seat. He would have to deal with a legislative branch controlled by the opposing party. It must seem like that is the case, on frequent occasions, to Ike even now.

THAT'S DIFFERENT

President Has Sensitive Side Plenty Trouble

By HARRY S. DENT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: President Eisenhower's three touchiest topics at his weekly news conferences are Senator McCarthy, his proposed flexible farm support program, and any question pertaining to segregation and civil rights.

Invariably, one of the three topics comes up for discussion weekly. One, however, has been excommunicated from further discussion at the press conferences by order of the President himself. That one is the current feud between the junior senator from Wisconsin and the titan of the White House.

At one of his recent conferences the President announced formally before the questioning began that he had said his last word on the question of communists in government. (He has never called Senator McCarthy by name, always referring to the issue as the investigation of communists in government and other such appellations).

One reporter, however, decided to take a crack at the McCarthy-Ike row anyway. He gained recognition by the President and proceed to ask the chief executive if he thought McCarthy was disrupting his legislative program in Congress.

The result was most embarrassing for the reporter. Mr. Eisenhower completely ignored him with a censuring glance, and he immediately called for the next question.

A question on the President's controversial farm support proposals will also sometimes bring a curt, but caustic, reply. A reporter asked once if he had changed his stand on farm parities since the campaign, recalling that the President as a candidate campaigned for 90 to 100 per cent supports for the farmers.

The President shot a fiery question back at him. He asked the reporter what he had actually said in 1952 concerning farm supports. This counter question stumped the reporter and dispensed with his query.

Any time a reporter pops a needling question on segregation or civil rights, the President's round forehead tightens and flushes to an abnormal red. He has declared once that he desired no praise for the Supreme Court decision against segregation by stating the court is under no political administration.

All in all, the President, who describes himself as a political amateur, handles himself well and with confidence at his conferences. But he has his touchy topics, just as did his predecessors in the White House.

Gala Summer Showing of All Freezer Models Now Underway. Take a Big Step Towards Food Economy by Stepping in to Your Dealer's "Freezer Fair."

A home food freezer is the modern way to better eating—economically.

The food freezer that is stocked with foods that were purchased in quantity when prices were low means new convenience in meal planning and preparation, greater variety in meals, and a year-round balanced diet.

Freezers stop food waste. Food that was once thrown out is turned into planned-overs and served to the family when it's just what they wanted, instead of something they're tired of seeing.

When you can cut your food bills at the same time that you eat better, you have real economy. And that's the economy a home freezer offers you.

You'll find the model to fit your needs, upright or chest type, on display now at your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer. Visit his "Freezer Fair".

MRS. TROY CASEY

Mrs. Troy Casey of Baytown, president of the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading, will preside during the second annual Reading Conference at West Texas State College July 26-29. Installation Held for Lions Club Officers

Installation services were held Monday evening for the new officers of the Canyon Lions Club, who take office July 1st. The installation was the highlight of the club's regular Ladies Night. Rex Reeves was chairman for the evening in the absence of the club president, W. T. McGregor. Incoming president is W. W. Sternenberg.

Installation of officers was in charge of Cecil Massey of Hereford and former Canyon Chamber of Commerce manager. Massey injected his usual humorous touch in instructing the incoming officers.

Miss Bettie Graham sang three numbers before the installation service. Officers present were Charles Hillier, Lion Tamer; Bill Wilson, Tailtwister; Clark Jarnagin, director, John Bowden, secretary-treasurer; Art Roberts, third vice-president; and Bill Sternenberg, president.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Winston Churchill has pressed President Eisenhower to give Britain a voice in any decision involving the future use of atom or hydrogen bombs. The right of veto would apply to bombs carried from any U. S. base in any war. Mr. Eisenhower was unable to agree.

A supersecret political strategy board has been formed to advise President Eisenhower on the political effect of proposed White House policy. This board is referred to as a sort of "National Security Council for the GOP." Political bigwigs "appear" before it to give their ideas.

A private survey by a publication friendly to Mr. Eisenhower comes up with an estimate that the Democrats would pick up 35 seats in the House of Representatives if the November elections were held at this time. A shift of three seats would give control to the Democrats.

Richard Nixon, Vice President, is very busy seeking to salve wounds inflicted on Republicans in Congress and in executive positions by the recent McCarthy-Pentagon hearings. Party leaders hope all will be forgiven and forgotten before November.

Thomas Dewey, New York Governor, has been given White House assurance that he will get another crack at the Republican nomination in 1956 if Mr. Eisenhower decides to retire and if Mr. Dewey runs for a fourth term as Governor and is elected. Mr. Dewey's decision may be related to his estimate of the chances that Ike will want to step out.

Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, may permit his name to be entered as a contestant for the Republican leadership in the new Senate that will come to Washington next January. Some Republican Senators feel that Senator William Knowland, present leader, is not as effective as they would like him to be.

Mr. Eisenhower is a little annoyed to discover that Republican members of Congress continue to grumble over the small amount of patronage being made available to them. The President is trying to limit patronage so far as possible and to build political strength for the party in other ways.

Arthur Burns, economic adviser to the President, used his influence on William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board Chairman, to encourage the Board's further easing up on the supply of money. The White House feels that the lag in some lines of business is a bit more stubborn than had been expected.

Allen Dulles, Director of this country's Central Intelligence Agency, denies vigorously that his agents have had any part in the latest revolution in Guatemala, where the Government has been Communist-dominated.

Word out of China is that 25 to 30 Americans, held prisoner or living out of prison, will refuse to return to the U. S. if an agreement is reached allowing them to come home. Only one is known as a Communist Party member. Several are members of Mme. Sun Yat-sen's China Welfare Appeal movement. Others are women who elect to stay with Chinese husbands.

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, is more and more inclined to the view that the United States must come out firmly against colonialism as practiced by key U. S. allies, if this country wants to gain friends in the less highly developed areas of the world. Communists are making hay in almost all colonial areas.

Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary, was playing a deliberate game when he had kind words to say for Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. Under Secretary of State, and studied silence to offer Mr. Dulles, the Secretary. Mr. Eden has found Mr. Dulles hard to handle and is showing his displeasure.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army staff chief, remains very unhappy over the slash to be made in Army strength at a time when diplomats are tending to become involved in commitments that are only as good as the armed forces that stand back of them.

High American officials working abroad complain that it is growing more difficult to get decisions out of the White House or the Department of State. The complaint is that the National Security Council, supposed to share top U. S. strategic policy, has become a sort of debating society, unable to reach clear-cut decisions.

Chou En-lai, Premier of Communist China, has assurances from Great Britain that there will be a strong effort to admit his Government to the United Nations before this year is out. Communist China is gaining big-power status in much of the world because of her success in standing up to U. S. armies in Korea.

It is not escaping the attention of leaders in the U. S. Congress that British leaders are praising V. M. Molotov, Russia's Foreign Minister, and Chou En-lai, Premier-Foreign Minister of Communist China, while criticizing the United States and its leadership. Less than a year ago, Chou's Government was engaged in killing American youth.

Winston Wilbanks Expressed Thanks For Rotary Favors

Retiring President Winston Wilbanks conducted the final program of the Rotary Club year Tuesday, by outlining that he had found out about Rotary during the past year.

Wilbanks stated that during the first six months of his administration he was sick and threatened to resign his post. He was glad that he stayed on to complete the year's work.

In his final talk of the year, the president stated that he had considered many subjects as vital to Rotary, but decided to ask the question: "Why are we members of the Rotary Club?"

He pointed out five vital reasons, Good meals, which attract many men; good fellowship, for which the Canyon club is famous; the best programs obtainable; professional advantages; and to live up to the motto of the Club—"Service above self."

The president believes that the last named is the most important reason why men should be attracted to Rotary. The desire to be of service to mankind predominated in the lives of persons who want something done.

In making his final appeal to members of the club, Mr. Wilbanks urged that all members of the club consider the motto of Rotary seriously.

Independence Day Should Not Be Day Mourning

"The Fourth of July is a day of celebration. Don't turn it into a day of mourning!"

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, made that plea to motorists today in announcing a traffic safety program, "Vacation Driving," which is being sponsored in Texas by the Texas Safety Association and Texas Department of Public Safety in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"Independence Day calls for extra care in traffic," he said. "Such holidays always result in greater highway travel, and because the Fourth falls on Sunday this year the roads probably will be crowded with pleasure drivers throughout the week-end."

Accident records for past years show that the toll of traffic deaths and injuries always rises on holiday week-ends, he pointed out. The increase in traffic and the sometimes-careless holiday spirit form a dangerous combination.

"Specifically," Col. Tilley said, "fatigue from trying to cover too many miles during the week-end, excessive speed and excessive drinking are contributing factors in many holiday accidents."

According to Col. Tilley, July is a high accident month anyway. "This is largely due," he said, "to the vast amount of driving done by summer vacationists at this time.

"Add a special holiday week-end like the Fourth to this month," he said, "and for two or three days the motorist who wants to drive safely and avoid accidents will have to be especially alert."

For those who plan an auto trip over the Fourth, he made the following suggestions:

1. Don't try to cover too many miles.
2. Be prepared for heavy holiday traffic.
3. Get an early start, pause for rest occasionally.
4. Don't speed.
5. Don't drink before driving.
6. Remember that the application of common courtesy to traffic situations will prevent many accidents. Make courtesy your code of the road, and be sure to acknowledge the courteous acts of others.

"This last point is especially important," Col. Tilley said. "Highways will be a lot safer if motorists will keep in mind the July slogan of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: 'Vacation Time — Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road'."

The Eagle or the Oyster?

© Fritz Henle—Courtesy Cities Service Company

Now comes the season of the year when the Red, White and Blue is glorified in oratory throughout the land. Platitudes flow. Washington, Lincoln, Franklin, Patrick Henry, and Jefferson are quoted. For speakers bold enough to break with this tradition, we suggest the examination of a speech written by Merle Thorpe, editor of SERVICE Magazine, for the July issue. Theme—"The Eagle or the Oyster?"

For a people . . .

who elect opportunism rather than opportunity, who dream of security rather than success;

who believe political charity is a virtue;

who mock the frugal and plunder the thrifty;

who adopt the rule that if I don't succeed you are to blame, that what you have is as much mine as yours;

who contend that property is a shameful sign of success;

who whimper that failure is the nobler cause; well-being is wicked; prudence, out-of-date; sacrifice silly—for such a people a fitting emblem is the Oyster.

For a people . . .

who faced nature in the raw, with privation the rule and hardihood a virtue;

who endured defeat, disease and disaster for a hundred years in order to get a foothold on the Eastern Seaboard, the while with one eye on the interior, a no-man's land, a cockpit for settling international rivalries and private grudges, disputed by wild animals and wilder redmen;

who sacrificed thus for a belief in the worth and dignity of the individual;

who believed that economic freedom was as important as political freedom;

who substituted "In God We Trust," for the Old World motto "In Government We Trust"; for a nation built by men who dedicated their lives to achieve the realization of these beliefs,

I give you, fellow citizens—

the Eagle!

8 DAYS IN RAILROAD CAR

Casa Grande, Ariz. — Milford Alvin Fitzgerald, of Seattle, Wash., survived being locked for eight days, without food and water, in a railroad car loaded with lumber. A hobo in the railroad yard here reported hearing a noise in one of the cars and Fitzgerald, dehydrated and almost starved to death, was freed and taken to a hospital where he is recuperating.

DIVERS FIND JAP SHIP

Sydney, Australia. — Divers of an Australian syndicate, which has disposed rights to all ships in Rabaul and Bouganville Harbor, reported a big prize at the very outset—a Japanese aircraft carrier with 20 planes intact on its flight deck. The salvagers estimated it to be worth around $175,000 for scrap.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON
U. S. Senator

Defense Bill

Defense appropriations of $28,861,584,486 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, have been recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

That sum is $5,451,736,514 less than total appropriations for the current fiscal year. It is $1,025,470,514 below the budget estimate.

The recommended appropriation is equivalent to more than $170 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Aircraft

Committee hearings on the defense appropriations bill brought out the fact that aircraft procurement expenditures by the Air Force, Army and Navy will account for some 22 per cent of all defense spending in 1955.

This reflects continuing emphasis on building up air power. During the current year, aircraft procurement expenditures are 20 per cent of total defense spending. Last year, the figure was 17 per cent.

By July 1, 1957, it is planned that the Air Force will be organized into 137 wings, of which 126 will be combat wings. The air army of the Navy will include 16 carrier air groups and 15 carrier anti-submarine warfare squadrons. The Marine Corps will have three air wings.

Ships

Under terms of the bill, expenditures for shipbuilding will total approximately one billion dollars next year. That is about the same amount being spent this year.

At the end of June, 1955, the active fleet of the Navy will consist of 1,080 ships. Of these, 404 will be major combatant types — aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, and so on — and 676 will be mine warfare, amphibious warfare, patrol, and auxiliary vessels.

Personnel

At the present time, we have approximately 3,330,000 men in our Armed Forces. That is a reduction of about 72,000 since the first of this year.

The Defense Department reports that it expects the total to be reduced to 3,047,000 by next June — 1,173,000 in the Army, 970,000 in the Air Force, 689,000 in the Navy, and 215,000 in the Marine Corps. Only the Air Force will show an increase in manpower during the coming year.

When I served as chairman of the Senate Preparedness Committee, my investigations convinced me that there was a great waste of military manpower. I am glad to see efforts continued to cut this waste. The Armed Forces are working to bring about a higher ratio of combat to noncombat personnel.

Training Cost

Average cost of training an Air Force pilot is $60,000. A B-47 pilot — cross-trained as a bombardier, navigator, and radar operators — represents an investment of $210,000 for training alone.

Munitions Cost

During the fiscal year from 1951 through the requested Defense Department appropriation for 1955, approximately $9,400,000,000 will have been spent for ammunition and explosives.

For Our Security

We have to face the fact that the cost of national security will remain high for many years to come. It is a price we must pay.

I believe the American people are willing to pay it. I believe, also, that they want the men representing them in Congress to keep a close watch on expenditures for military purposes. Wasteful and extravagant practices must be eliminated.

Over the long pull, economic strength is an indispensable prerequisite for military strength. Our economic strength, together with our faith in our free society, is the basic source of our military power. We must never forget that.

Interior Bill

I was much interested in the appropriation bill for the Department of the Interior, since I had made recommendations to the committee about several provisions of the bill.

I welcomed the opportunity to help bring about Senate adoption of my recommendations to insure adequate funds for enforcement of the Connally Hot Oil Act; for research in the utilization of salt water; for improvement and repair of the Inks Fish Hatchery near Burnet, and to prevent shutting down the Wichita Falls office of the Bureau of Mines.

Reciprocal Trade

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act expired on June 12. The House has passed a bill extending the law for one year from that date, and action is expected in the Senate shortly.

I favor extending the law. Texas is a State which has always been prosperous in periods when world trade is operating at high levels and has always been hard hit when international trade barriers have become too high to surmount.

Primarily, Texas is a producing State. We must sell our production not merely to the rest of the United States but to the rest of the world. We must buy if we hope to sell — and Texas has much to sell.

One Nation Under God

Both houses of Congress passed, and the President signed, the resolution adding the words "under God" to the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. The new wording was used for the first time in official Flag Day ceremonies, in which I was privileged to participate, at the Capitol on June 14.

Rainbow Girls Installation Is Impressive

MARTHA QUILLEN
. . . Worthy Advisor

On Monday evening, June 7, a beautiful installation ceremony was held in the Masonic Hall for the officers of Canyon Rainbow Assembly No. 214. Installing officers, all past worthy advisors of Canyon Assembly were: Installing officer, June Davis; installing marshall, Bettye McGehee; installing musician, Anna Lou Samuelson; installing recorder, Billie Graham; installing chaplain, Dorothy Neblett.

The following officers were installed to serve for the ensuing term: Worthy Advisor, Martha Quillen; Worthy Associate Advisor, La Nelle Gum; Charity, Nancy Adcock; Hope, Virginia Leake; Faith, Ann Moore; Love, Mona Beth Gillham; religion, Agnes Measamer; Nature, Wanda Rogers.

Immortality, Carolyn Glanton; Fidelity, Judy Newman; Patriotism, Glenna Faye Stroup; Service, Mary Whealey; drill leader, Nancy Kay Tomlinson; choir director, Florence Hacker; musician, Nelda Coffee; confidential observer, Faye Lowrey; outer observer, Barbara Brown, and chaplain, Joan Payne. Other officers installed in January to serve for one year are: Recorder, Diane Prichard; treasurer, Carol Ann Holman, and mother advisor, Mrs. T. E. Beard.

As June Davis, installing officer, handed Martha Quillen the gavel, she presented her with a beautiful flower arrangement of yellow carnations. Martha, then in charge of the assembly, welcomed her parents, relatives and guests that were in attendance.

She introduced her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt, who were conducted to the East where she presented them with a gift accompanied by a beautiful poem of tribute. While they stood, facing the audience, Harold Slack accompanied by Lynn Fore, sang "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" as a tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Wirt. Martha greeted Mrs. Belle Hromas, Grand visitor of the Order of the Rainbow, who had been previously seated in the East with an appropriate poem of appreciation.

After the officers had all been installed and friends and relatives greeted, Martha Quillen presented June Davis, the retiring Worthy Advisor, with a Past Worthy Advisor's pin from the assembly. While June remained standing, Debra McDonald and Nelda Coffee, accompanied by Barbara Winters at the piano, sang "Over the Rainbow" dedicated to June.

Martha announced her theme, "Trust;" her flower, the yellow rose; her colors, green and yellow. She then introduced those on the program for the evening. The program consisted of a song, "I Speak to the Stars" sung by June Davis, Alice Simms, Bettie Glanton, and Virginia Leake, accompanied by Mary Sue Bolton; a piano solo by Barbara Winters; a reading by Elaine Cundiff; and a solo, "Ava Maria," by Debra McDonald with Nelda Coffee as accompanist.

Installation and program were closed with a pray by the Rev. Strauss Atkinson.

Following the close of the installation, Mrs. Beard, mother advisor, presented service bars to Nancy Adcock, Barbara Brown, Nelda Coffee, Emma Liston Coleman, Bettie Glanton, La Nell Gum, Ann Jarrett, Virginia Leake, Ann Moore, Judy Newman, Martha Quillen, Peggy Sheets, Nancy Kay Tomlinson, and Mary Whealey.

A large number of friends and relatives attended the installation, and the reception for members and guests which followed the program.

IT WAS SAID in the long ago that we brought nothing into this world and that we shall take nothing out. That is true for all material goods. It is false in the realm of the spirit. You and I are writing day by the day the story that must forever be our history. We are garnering the harvests of the years and storing them in the granaries of heaven. As women and men come to the closing hours of life on the earth, they gather up the "fruit of the spirit." Love and joy and peace and longsuffering are not material. They are eternal goods.

HOW RICH ARE WE? When we stand before the heavenly cashier and ask for a statement, what will the little card carry as our record? Shall we hold in our hands a blank white card, with a dark background? Will the servant of the Most High say that our account stands at zero? How dreadful, when we discover we have been working and living for naught! But why wait? Most of us can guess what the bank account really is. Let's face that question now, for tomorrow we must know the final statement. Shall I make sure of my holdings in the divine treasure house? What is my harvest?

LIPSTICK LOGIC
BY LOUISE ALLEN

Most of the time neighbors are just what the dictionary says they are: persons living nearby. Some are too quiet, some too noisy. Some have cats that prey on your birds, others object when your dog digs in their flower bed. Some notice when you entertain and leave them out, others wouldn't want to come if you asked them.

Yep, by and large, neighbors are just people who happen to live in the same block with you.

But once in awhile you wake up to the fact that neighbors can be something special. Such as when you take a long trip, as we did recently. One offered to collect our mail for us. Another said she'd water the yard. One brought over a hatbox she wanted us to take along. She agreed to check the house once a week and see that nothing went wrong.

Returning home after three weeks, we found the grass not ankle high as we had expected, but neatly mowed. The high school boy next door had done this. Our gardening neighbor had kept things green.

"There was a hot wind two or three days and I thought the geraniums in the back bed wouldn't pull through," she reported, "but they did. There's red spider in your spruce tree. And you'd better spray that coleus for aphids."

From three sides they converged on us with packages, messages, greetings, reports. No hint that our only claim on them was having a house and lot nearby.

Yep, in time of need, a good neighbor is something you won't find in the book.

WAYSIDE CLOVERLEAF 4-H CLUB TO MODEL CLOTHES

Wayside Cloverleaf Girl's 4-H Club met June 14, 16, and 18 at the Wayside church where the girls worked on blouses and aprons, and a few started skirts.

The skirts and blouses will be modeled at Claude August 10th. A new president, Mary Scroggins, and a new reporter, Peggy Caffee, were elected. All members were present Monday and Tuesday including the new member, Peggy Caffee. One member, Loraine Newsom, was absent Wednesday.

The 4-H girls would like to thank the following for the use of their sewing machines and for all the help: Mrs. Aaron Cummings, Mrs. Ira Schrib, Mrs. Harvey Newsom, and Joann Hill, and the sponsors, Mrs. Stanley Hill and Mrs. Bill Heisler, and the agent, Mrs. Joann Bannister. The club was honored by the presence of two visitors, Misses Shirley and Linda Bannister, from Water Valley, Texas.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CLUB HAS PICNIC AT G. W. COX HOME

Canyon Mother-in-Law Club met with the Palo Duro Club and Amarillo Club and husbands of members of all three clubs held their annual picnic on June 24th in the spacious backyard at the G. W. Cox home on Fourth Avenue with Mr. Cox, his daughter, Mrs. Jewell Burgess, and her daughter as host and hostesses.

Long tables had been arranged by Mr. Cox and from these the 96 present were served fried chicken, salads, pies and cakes, and other foods with drinks of coffee and iced tea.

Ray Beeson, minister of the Central Church of Christ, gave the invocation.

After dinner all were invited into the beautiful reception room of the home where they were entertained by a string band of musicians from Tulia and Canyon.

Sacred songs were sung by the group. Mrs. Burgess's daughter played several piano selections after which Mr. Cox showed a number of moving pictures of the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club and took pictures of the group.

At the conclusion of the entertainment features, Mr. Cox, Mrs. Burgess and daughter served ice cream and cake as refreshments.

Mr. Cox extended an invitation for the picnic to be held in his yard again next year.

DIDN'T SUIT 'EM

Richmond, Va. — After elaborate ceremonies, the cornerstone of Henrico county's new office building was laid. However, when the crowd departed, construction workers cast a critical eye, calmly lifted the 100-pound stone and relaid it to suit their ideas.

Our idea of an obscure Government bureau is one that can't issue 12 pamphlet reports a year.

Irrigation on the High Plains Listed as Big Business by Writer

LUBBOCK: If the irrigation water pumped onto fields in the High Plains area of Texas last year had been diverted to the Brazos River it would have been enough to fill big Possum Kingdom reservoir six times.

That's proof aplenty that irrigation has become big business in that section of the state. And it's getting bigger all the time.

Since the first irrigation water well was put into operation about 1911 near Plainview the number has increased to almost 28,000 that now supply the "lifeline" to 3,627,105 acres on 15,868 farms in the 43 county area.

There was little development until the late thirties, and by 1940 there were just slightly more than 2000 wells in the entire area. Many of the early-day wells were in the "shallow water belt" in the Muleshoe, Plainview and Hereford section.

An average rainfall of 18 or 19 inches make supplemental irrigation necessary in most years.

"As late as 1945 there were only 4500 wells. But a combination of high priced crops, limited production due to insufficient rainfall emphasized the value of irrigation, and the number of wells drilled increased in great proportion," says Robert V. Thurmond, Irrigation Specialist in the High Plains area for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Most of the 4,500,000 acre feet of water which irrigated fields in 1953 was used on 1,703,923 acres of cotton and 860,625 acres of grain sorghum. This year as irrigated cotton acreage was reduced to 1,306,000 acres farmers have almost doubled their plantings of irrigated grain sorghum—1,479,000 acres.

What has irrigation meant to yield of cotton an acre? Old-timers relate that over a period of several years the average yield on dry land is a quarter to a third. Now, with irrigation, the cotton yield is a little less than a bale an acre.

Irrigated acreage of most every other major crop has also increased this year over the 1953 acreage, Mr. Thurmond points out. Wheat irrigation increased from 239,500 acres in 1953 to 371,760 in 1954; alfalfa acreage is 106,913 this year compared with 94,035 acres last year.

However, pasture irrigation acreage showed a decrease from 63,851 acres in 1953 to 55,600 acres. That is no doubt due to rainfall received earlier. There's also about 100 acres of sugar beets under irrigation this year, 14,520 acres of barley, 13,645 acres of corn, 7820 acres of castor beans and 18,512 acres of vegetables.

In the 43 county area Hockley, Hale and Lubbock counties top the list with an estimated 3200 wells each.

Power supplies show that butane is by far the most widely used for pumping water with almost 16,000 wells using it. Natural gas supplies fuel for over 6600 wells, electricity for about 4700 wells, gasoline for almost 1100; 460 are diesel powered.

NEW MEMBER INITIATED INTO LOU LESTER CLUB

The Lou Lester Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Lucy Brown with Bearl E. Mayfield as co-hostess.

In an impressive service Leatha Lehnick was initiated into the club as a new member.

Vera Crawford made a short talk on "What the Eastern Star Means to Me." Ildagerte Wirt gave a history of the club which is made up of Past Matrons of Canyon City Chapter 105 Order of the Eastern Star and named for Mrs. Lou Lester, first Worthy Matron of this chapter.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Margaret Cole; vice-president, Mrs. Berl E. Mayfield; secretary, Mrs. Nina White; treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Marshall; reporter, Miss Lou Ella Patterson.

The hostesses served chicken salad, date pudding, sandwiches, and iced tea to Mesdames Lehnick, Olga Phillips, Wirt, White, Cole, Marie Hair, Hud Prichard, Katherine Foster, Clara Lou Slack, Ethel Campfield, Mattie Gerald, and Miss Crawford.

AMITY SEWING CLUB MAKES REVIEW OWNERS' ANTIQUES

When the Amity Sewing Club met with Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Penny Cox in the home of Mrs. Davis on Friday, June 25, roll call was answered by each showing an antique and giving a short history of it.

Each member showed something quite interesting. Some of the pictures shown were nearly 100 years old.

After a visiting hour lovely refreshments of cherry pie with ice cream, cookies, mints and punch were served by the hostesses to Mesdames W. I. Wester, S. L. Terry, Henry Cone, T. T. Fain, R. H. Long, Mary Burtz, G. B. Combs, R. D. Lowry, C. T. Danner, and W. H. Harden.

Next meeting will be on July 23 at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. R. D. Lowry with Mrs. G. B. Combs and Mrs. John Wright as co-hostesses.

"No—far from it. She sells wieners at a hot-dog stand."

PUTTING ON THE DOG

"Annie Mae," said the mistress of the house, finally giving way to curiosity. "I notice you have been taking our empty grapefruit hulls home with you. What do you do with them?"

The negro maid looked up at her mistress with a sheepish grin. "Yes'um," she admitted. "I'se been carrying 'em home. I think they make my garbage look so stylish."

Independence Was Signed 178 Years Ago on Fourth

Our Declaration of Independence signed 178 years ago is considered by lawyers as expressing a basic principle of our American way of life—our belief in a government of laws rather than a government of men, and in certain individual rights that must not be denied by governing bodies.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that tenet. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; . . ."

Some five years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

SOME MEMORY

The teacher who had been telling the small pupils the story of the discovery of America by Columbus, ended by saying: "And all this happened more than 400 years ago."

A little boy whose eyes popped wide open thereupon exclaimed, in true admiration, "Whew! What a memory you have!"

Thomas E. Dewey, Governor of New York: "The catastrophes which have befallen the free world are more the result of the careless acceptance of falsehood than of the superior skill or strength of totalitarianism."

OF THE EARTH, EARTHY

"John," said the teacher, "stand, facing north. Now what have you on your left hand?"

"Chewing gum, teacher. I could not wash it off this morning."

A poor man is a healthy man; a healthy man is a rich man. — German Proverb.

Food Poison Is Common During The Summer Heat

AUSTIN: Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer, warns that now hot weather is here, everyone should be careful in handling and storing food to prevent food poisoning. The organism grows best in foods that are quite fatty, such as ham, pork, salads, or sandwiches with rich dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with custard filling. Keep this in mind when you prepare a picnic lunch or when anyone in the family takes a lunch to work during the hot months.

Symptoms of food poisoning usually strike quickly and explosively, and those who do not eat the contaminated food do not become ill. Usually from one to four hours after eating contaminated food, victims feel ill. If it is a mild case of food poisoning, recovery usually begins in eight to 12 hours, but victims may feel the ill effects for several days.

Usual symptoms of food poisoning are diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps, and weakness. Whenever you feel these symptoms be sure to call your physician. Do not wait, hoping it will wear off. Sometimes food poisoning causes death.

Careless handling of food before cooking or serving, improper home canning, storing food too long at room temperature, and improper heating of leftover foods are the main cause of food contamination. So, in order not to endanger your family's health, be especially careful in preparing and storing food. Never let a cut or sore place on your hand come into contact with food. Remember, don't take on a picnic or pack in a lunch, fat meats, salads with egg dressings, cream pies, cream puffs, or any food with a custard filling, unless you can keep them properly chilled until serving.

The Administration has announced that it will impose severe compliance restrictions on farmers.

U. M. T.

The Defense Department has announced a plan for a modified form of universal military training, calling for a combat-ready reserve of 3,000,000 men. The plan, now under study by the National Security Council, would draft young men into the reserve forces as well as for active military duty.

AIR DEFENSE TESTS

The nation's air guardians recently engaged in a test of the new weapons and tactics designed to protect this country in the atomic age. Participating in the first air-rocketry competition among fighter planes are teams from the Eastern, Western and Central Air Defense commands, which are charged with the defense of the United States in the event of enemy attack.

SALUTING

General Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff, has ordered that armed forces personnel resume the off-base salute, an ancient military custom which the army abandoned in 1948. As of September 1, a salute will be required from army personnel "at all times when they meet and recognize persons entitled to the salute." The exceptions are in places where "a salute would be manifestly inappropriate or impractical."

Around the Town . .

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

Mrs. Ed Harrell is off on another trip! This time she and Miss Alice Payne are off to Europe for two months. Mrs. Harrell left Saturday on the new Santa Fe train, The Chief, for a few days visit with her niece in New York City, Mrs. Ellyne Strickland. Miss Payne will fly to New York and they will leave on the Queen Elizabeth landing first in England and going to Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France returning on the Queen Mary.

These are the most luxurious liners afloat and are both English ships. Mrs. Harrell says she enjoys Switzerland the most of any European country she has visited. They are going on a conducted tour by Mr. Kazmayer. Mrs. Harrell has been on previous tours with Mr. Kazmayer and finds the service he provides very satisfactory and most pleasant.

Mrs. Harrell has taken many interesting trips around the world, and made the statement that she supposed she would die on some trip, and that she hoped death would not catch her in bed. She says that on these ships there is always a doctor and two registered nurses, which removes all fear of being sick.

Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson and daughters Nancy, Mrs. Richmond Hales, and Mrs. Hales' son, Rickie, attended Mrs. Tomlinson's family reunion at Lubbock last week. Mrs. Tomlinson's people hold these reunions every year possible. The oldest person attending is Mrs. Tomlinson's mother, who is 79 years old. 65 relatives attended this year.

Mrs. T. Winston Wilbanks and daughter, Beth, returned from a four weeks trip Thursday. Mrs. Wilbanks attended the Presbyterian meeting at Purdue for two weeks and then visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson, at Mason, Ohio. Beth spent the entire four weeks with her grandparents. Both had a wonderful time.

A group of young people and one adult minister, Rev. Wendell L. Newell from the Southern Presbytery of Arizona stopped over in Canyon Friday night and Saturday with members of the Presbyterian church here. They were given dinner at the church Friday night, lodging and breakfast in homes here. After the dinner the young people gave a program at the church. There were two Indians, two Spaniards and one Anglo in the group. They are attending the National Assembly of Westminister fellowship in Champaign, Ill. Dorothy Elizabeth Neblett will attend this meeting representing the Presbyterian churches of the Panhandle area. She will be the only representative from the Panhandle Presbyterian churches.

Lewis Stoelzing who has been in the Veteran's Hospital at McKinney flew home Wednesday. He is much improved and at present can be up an hour at a time, resting for an hour. He will be able to increase the time he is up every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brantley and their two children have moved to 2106 Fifth Ave. Mr. Brantley is with the music department at the college and he is also directing the Methodist choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Harrell and their two sons, Jimmie and Barry, of Houston have been visiting with Mrs. Ed. Harrell and with Mrs. Alton Harrell's two aunts, Mesdames Clara and Zella Love.

Mrs. W. E. Howse and children, Bob and Mary, of Wichita, Kansas, are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Harrell of Claude and her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Harrell, and with her friends in Canyon, Claude and Amarillo.

Mrs. C. W. Johnson of Bonham is visiting with her mother, Mrs. N. A. Croson, and friends.

Mrs. Guy Harp gives us her recipe for Pineapple Torte.

½ lb. vanilla wafers rolled thin.
1¾ cup powdered sugar.
½ cup butter and 2 Ts more
3 eggs
No. 2 can grated pineapple—drain well
½ pint whipping cream
¾ cup nuts

Butter bottom and sides of pan, sprinkle with half of crumbs. Cream butter, add sugar and well beaten eggs. Pour over crumbs and add pineapple well drained. Whip cream, add nuts and sprinkle rest of crumbs on top. Put in icebox to chill but do not freeze.

Miss Pauline Brigham left Monday, flying with Braniff Air Line to Salem where she will visit with her two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Minturn and Mrs. Alice Segismund, and their children for three weeks.

Col. R. H. Edger, Commanding Officer, Pantex Ordnance Plant in his interesting article about Thailand says this: "All male Thais are required to enter the priesthood for a period of three months in their lives, at which time they study, make sacrifices, and prepare themselves for life on earth so that their goals may be reached. During this time, they are required to shave their heads, wear a distinctive yellow robe, deprive themselves of luxuries, and live apart from their families in small cells in the temples. If he elects, the celebate may continue in the paths of a holy life after his three months, or return to civil life, which most usually do. One of the basic teachings is that after leaving the priesthood, the man should refrain from sin as a result of his new found faith for the remainder of his life.

For that reason, many do not enter the temples for their required duty until quite late in life."

Roses are heavy drinkers, if rain does not supply the moisture needed, roses should be soaked once a week to a depth of eight inches.

Don't kill the lady bugs, they eat the aphids which often feed on your roses.

Mulching roses is a good way to hold moisture in the ground, use grass cuttings or any mulching material you have on hand. If you do not have any material for mulching use granulated peat moss. This mulching keeps the ground cool and prevents baking of the soil. After this mulch is applied further cultivation will not be necessary for the summer, just pull the weeds and that will be cultivation enough.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhome Mobley and son Curtis Dale left Saturday for about a week in the mountains around Raton, New Mexico.

Mrs. J. A. Hill has kept the ribbons that came on flowers she has received as gifts and has made them into seven pillows and a small throw. They are lovely and it is a nice way to keep memories of friends who have been kind to you.

More and more I like to read of people who have lived a long while and are still enjoying life. Mrs. Arieta Bowser of Oakmont, Pa., celebrated her 100th birthday with 100 guests at her party. She was a former teacher.

All over the world freedom-hungry people know that this is the Fourth of July in the United States. Not just a date on the calendar. But a day that symbolizes the spirit of freedom in the greatest democracy in the world. It would be well if you — if all of us — would pause in our activities and rededicate ourselves to the proposition that all men are created equal . . . and that all men, wherever they live, should and must be as free of tyrannical yokes as we are in this blessed land of ours!

Just Between You, Me . . . . . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Several people visited the Kenny Goodmans this past week for a look at the new greenhouse Kenny recently finished. Kenny's neighbor, George Stevens, says th greenhouse will make an excellent target to throw rocks at if he gets peeved at him. Mrs. Goodman is planning to grow vegetables in the greenhouse this winter so if Mr. Stevens wants to get a neighborly handout every now and then he'll have to remember to stay neighborly.

Speaking of growing things brings to mind all the combines that were busily getting wheat out of the fields last week. Although the wheat suffered triple damages this year there was still a pretty good harvest which is still going on. The first blow the wheat suffered was from the drouth. Then after the rains came along and the wheat started growing along came a late freeze and ruined some of it. The third blow came in the winds, hail, and rains that hit the plains about the time much of the wheat was getting ready for harvest.

A short while before the destructive rains came along, County Agent John Brazzil said that Randall county would be tops in Texas both in wheat acreage and production per acre. The rains, storms, and freezes sort of cut down on the wheat harvested but there is still a pretty fair crop being combined. The farmers' row crops are looking very good so maybe the grain sorghum yield will sort of make up for the loss in wheat production.

Fishing is good and a lot of people are enjoying it at Buffalo Lake. Bill Wilson gave us a report on some of the events that took place out at the lake last week. He and Woody Pond caught about 27 pounds of channel catfish out there early last week. Another fisherman, W. Z. (Mutt) Clark, caught a 10 pound channel cat. Wilson reports Clark as a real booster of the lake and a very prolific fisherman out there. Clark, who is a Santa Fe mail clerk, caught the big fish Wednesday. Stories like that really give the other fishermen going out something to shoot at, or cast for.

With school being out Canyon's boys and girls are enjoying a bit of vacation. The Rainbow Girls did such a wonderful job of representing Canyon at San Antonio this year that they are already beginning to look forward to next year's trip to El Paso. June Davis was one of the highly honored Rainbow Girls this year.

The boys of the area haven't been completely idle. During the vacation time several of them attended Boys' State at Austin. One of them, Jack McCormick, was elected Commissioner of Agriculture for the day. It's a pretty nice thing to let the boys handle the controls of state government for one day. They make better citizens by doing it and democracy must have good, understanding citizens to survive.

This is the time of year that everyone waits for to rest up from other activities and then tries to get all their vacationing caught up so they can relax when things return to normal.

Everyone needs to make a new declaration for the 4th of July, a declaration of independence from careless driving.

"THE FOURTH OF JULY" RINGS A BELL (THE LIBERTY BELL) IN OUR MINDS. IT MEANS WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON AND ADAMS AND PATRICK HENRY—FIREWORKS AND PARADES, TOO. IT MEANS AMERICA.

BUT THE FREEDOMS WE CELEBRATE ON OUR DEMOCRACY'S INDEPENDENCE DAY CONCERN FREE PEOPLES EVERYWHERE, AND ALL THOSE LONGING TO BE FREE.

370 Americans To Die Hiways

New York: A total of 370 Americans will die in highway accidents during the coming three-day July Fourth week-end, according to a prediction released by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

The Association's estimate, based upon "a conservative expansion of the accident rates of three-day Independence Day holidays in the past," breaks down the causes of the fatal accidents into six principal categories.

Speeding is expected to kill 123 persons; excessive use of alcohol will account for 82 more, both motorists and pedestrians; failure to keep to the right of the centerline, 37 deaths; failure to yield the right-of-way, 26 deaths; overfatigued drivers or drivers actually asleep at the wheel, 23 deaths; miscellaneous causes, 79 deaths.

In releasing the estimate, Thomas N. Boate, Accident Prevention Department manager of the Association, pointed out that the Association's figures for the recent Memorial Day week-end were "grimly close to reality." The national highway death toll for that holiday, not counting those who were injured but didn't die until sometime after the week-end was over, was 362. The Association had predicted 380 deaths.

FOR SUMMER FRIED CHICKEN

Cut 1 frying chicken in serving pieces. Dip in undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk, then in seasoned flour or prepared frying mix. Brown in melted shortening in heavy skillet over medium heat. Cover, lower heat, and continue cooking for about 20-25 minutes, or until chicken is tender.

PEANUT BUTTER CRISPS

(Makes 4 dozen 2" cookies)

¼ cup shortening
½ cup peanut butter
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
⅓ cup undiluted Carnation
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Blend shortening, peanut butter, sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Add Carnation and lemon juice. Stir in dry ingredients and mix well. Drop from spoon to buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 15-20 minutes. Remove cookies from sheet and place on racks to cool.
